

Going to the Chapel - February News

Judi Gaitens and her good friend Claudia often went on retreat at Mepkin Abbey in South Carolina. The friend found great solace in the chapel service called vigils, which took place after dark, in the early hours of the morning. One year the friend could not go to SC so Judi painted this watercolor of the chapel to give to her as a gift. That way she could go to the service she loved even if she was not there in person. A wonderful painting and a sweet gift. We kept the mat dark as night and used a thin antique gold frame to show it off.

“Have frames, will travel” is my slogan and it means that I will visit you for a free framing consultation and free delivery when your frame work is done. I am happy to come to your house, your office, or another location of your choosing. It is very helpful to select framing materials in the area where the picture will be hanging since it is easy to hold samples up for comparison.
